Arriving at Fermilab

1.1 Before You Arrive

You can have your luggage and belongings shipped to the Fermilab receiving office, which is located near the fixed target area, off of Road B (see Appendix A). The address is:

Your Name
Fermilab
Receiving, Site 38
P.O. Box 500
Batavia, IL 60510

1.2 Fermilab Layout and Local Area

Fermilab is located in Batavia, IL, about 35 miles (or 50 km) west of Chicago. The main entrance is on Farnsworth Ave (Kirk Road) and Pine Street, just 3 miles north of the I-88/Farnsworth Ave exit. The location of Fermilab relative to the surrounding highways is shown in Figure 1.1.

Currently, three gated entrances provide access to Fermilab: the main entrance on Pine St, the Batavia Rd entrance on the east side of the lab, and the service entrance on Wilson Rd. The Wilson Rd entrance is only open during weekdays, not on nights or weekends.

There are several primary areas and places of interest on the site, all of which can be seen on a scale model of Fermilab located on the 15th floor of the Wilson Hall building. The largest central locations on Fermilab are described in more detail below.

1.3 Wilson Hall

Also known as the High Rise, this structure dominates the landscape and is the center of Fermilab operations. Many of the experiments and divisions have offices in the upper levels of Wilson Hall. The first floor has the Users Office, Travel Office, Public Affairs, Cafeteria, and the One West meeting room. A medical office for Fermilab employees, the Key and ID office, Argonne Credit Union, an ATM, Duplicating and Visual Media are located on the ground floor (one floor below the first floor). Down the large set of stairs at the back of Wilson Hall is Ramsey Auditorium. Ramsey is used for many labwide events, such as the annual User's Meeting, important announcements from the lab director, diverse cultural events for general public, and movies shown by the Fermilab International Film Society. The cashier is located on the fourth floor, east side, in front of the elevator. This is where you go to pay various charges such as for Visual Media services. You may also cash a check there, although you must show your Fermilab ID.

The most important thing to know about Wilson Hall is how to interpret directions that people may give you for places inside the High Rise. The front of the building (with the semi-circular driveway and the reflecting pond) is referred to as north. Directions generally are given in the form WH1W, where WH stands for Wilson Hall, the number denotes the floor, and the subsequent letters define the cardinal point of the location, relative to the above definition of North. For example, the Users and Travel Offices are located at WH1NW, behind the elevators.

The High Rise offers many services to users. The locations of primary interest are listed below.

Users Office: Located on the first floor of Wilson Hall (WH1NW), the Users Office is your primary source of user-related information at Fermilab. It should also be your first stop upon your first arrival at Fermilab, as outlined in Section 2.1.2. The office may be contacted by email at usersoffice@fnal.gov.

Travel Office: Located conveniently next to the Users Office, the Travel Office can provide services relating to Fermilab business travel only. (travel@fnal.gov)

Key & ID Office: Located on the ground floor near the west elevators, extension 4506, the Key & ID Office will be one of the subsequent stops you make. Pick up your Fermi ID here. You will need to renew your ID every year.

The Library: The library is located at WH3S, and is tailored to suit the needs of HEP experimenters. Information about library services and available periodicals are online at <http://lss.fnal.gov/ird/library.html>.

Wilson Hall Cafe: The Cafeteria is located at the southeast end of the first floor of the high rise (WH1SE). The weekly menu is available online at <http://lss.fnal.gov/cafe/>. They do usually offer a vegetarian entree and there is always a salad bar.

Recreation Office: The Recreation Office is located on the west side of the 15th floor of Wilson Hall (WH15W). They will tell you about all things recreational at Fermilab. You can get a taste of the offerings in the Recreation chapter (4). The Recreation Office website is at <http://lss.fnal.gov/recreation/recreation.html>.

Post Office and Stockroom: The post office and stockroom both used to be located in Wilson Hall. They have been moved out to Site 38. Note that the post office can handle personal letters but not personal packages. See the Postal and Parcel Services section later in the Getting Around Fermilab chapter.

Medical Office: Some basic first aid can be obtained on the ground floor of the High Rise WHGFW, extension 3232. This service is only for Fermilab employees.

Meeting Rooms: Wilson Hall is home to several very popular meeting rooms. These rooms are listed with all the other conference rooms around Fermilab in Appendix B.

1.4 Fermilab Village

The Fermilab Village, located near the East entrance to Fermilab (Batavia Road), contains a number of construction labs as well as housing for students and visiting scientists. There is a map of the village in Appendix A.

The Housing office is located in the Aspen East House, Batavia Road and Sauk Boulevard. See more about this in Chapter 3.

The Users Center is open from Monday to Friday from 5PM to 12PM. It has a TV/video room, 2 pool tables and a tennis table which are free and open to anyone. The Users Center also has a piano room and a bar. There is also a restaurant in the Users Center, “Chez Leon”, which is open Wednesdays for lunch and Thursdays for dinner. The Chez Leon menu may be found at <http://lss.fnal.gov/chezleon/index.html>.

The Kuhn Barn is used for all kinds of parties, such as the annual GSA Halloween Party, and for dance classes. The area in front of the Kuhn Barn has picnic tables and a grill which may be used by anyone.

The laundry and vending machines are located at 18 Sauk Boulevard, across the street from the Users Center parking lot. The laundry facility has also a small room with a piano. To use the piano room you must ask for the key at the housing office or Users’ Office.

The Gym and the sports courts are located at 16 Potawatomi. There is an annual fee for using the gym, which is currently $45 for visiting students. The year runs from Oct. 1st to Sept. 30th. Once you have purchased a membership, your Fermilab ID card is used to enter the gym. You will find more information in Chapter 4.

The Children’s Center day care facility is located at 34 Shabbona. It opens at 6:45 AM and closes at 5:30 PM. More information may be found in Chapter 5.

The laboratories which are located at the village are: Lab 1, Lab 2, Lab 3, Lab 4, Lab 5, Lab 5 Pole Bldg., Lab 6, Lab 7, and Lab 8.

1.5 The Experiments

The complete listing of Fermilab experiments and their primary webpages may be found online at <http://www.fnal.gov/faw/experimentsprojects/>.

Chapter 2

Upon Arrival at Fermilab

2.1 Fermilab Security and ID badges

2.1.1 Security Regulations

On January 24, 2005, new security regulations went into effect for entering the Fermilab site. Previous regulations required everyone attempting to drive onsite to have or be accompanied by someone with a Fermilab ID badge. The new regulations, in effect whenever the United States is at a threat level of yellow or less, are outlined below.

A central corridor of public areas will enable the public to visit much of the Fermilab site without the need for visitors' passes. The public areas include most of the recreational features of the site. The public areas will be open to the visiting public from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. from mid-October to mid-April and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. when daylight hours are longer. Roadways that are off limits to visiting members of the public will be posted with signs, and motorists will be given site maps to guide them to the public areas.

The public areas will extend into the Lederman Education Center and to the ground floor and atrium of Wilson Hall, and Ramsey Auditorium. Signs will tell visitors which areas of Wilson Hall are open to the public.

The Fermilab Security Plan identifies certain workspaces as "Property Protection Areas." These spaces include CDF; DØ; the Main Control Room and the associated computing space; parts of Feynman Computing Center; the Central Utility Building; the Central Helium Liquefier; and the Master Substation and the Kautz Road Substation. Fermilab ID badges will be required for entry into these areas, and people working in these areas must wear Fermilab ID badges or visitors' passes at all times.

Beginning January 24, 2005, only those who visit or work in Property Protection Areas will be required to wear Fermilab ID badges or visitors' passes. People will not need to wear ID badges or visitors' passes elsewhere on the site so long as the present threat level (yellow) remains in effect. However, everyone on the Fermilab site must produce valid identification if requested by a security officer.

Security officers will remain at the East and West gates. When entering the site you should be prepared to show your Fermilab ID badge so the security officer will know you are authorized to enter.

Visitors will now be able to enter the Fermilab site by car through both the East and West

Gates. After presenting identification, most visitors will simply pass through the security checkpoint after telling the security officer the purpose for their visits. They will not need to obtain visitors' passes. However, when a visitor plans to enter a Property Protection Area, he or she must obtain a temporary visitor's pass (as in the previous system) and wear it while inside the Property Protection Area.

If you do not normally work within one of the Property Protection Areas but need to visit one during the course of a day, you will need to use your Fermilab ID badge to open the card-key access doors of the area, and you must wear the identification badge at all times while inside the area.

These security changes will remain in effect at the current security level. If DOE directs Fermilab to raise the security level due to some imminent threat, access procedures may change and the site-wide wearing of identification badges may again be required until the threat subsides.

2.1.2 Obtaining a Fermilab ID badge

The first step to obtaining a Fermilab ID badge is completing the necessary paperwork. Applications for a Visitor ID badge may be obtained from the Users Office, or online at <http://www.fnal.gov/faw/vidform/vidform.pdf>. Page 2 of the application requires you to watch a safety video. This video is available in the Fermilab library, or online at http://vmsstreamer1.fnal.gov/VMS_Site_02/Training/UserSafety/index.htm and <http://www.fnal.gov/directorate/documents/chap2.html>. Also on page 2 is a section which requires you to read up on the Fermilab Computer Security Policy (also mentioned in Section 2.2). These policies are located online at <http://computing.fnal.gov/cd/policy/cpolicy.pdf> and <http://computing.fnal.gov/security/>. Once the form is completed, along with all the appropriate signatures, it can be faxed or mailed to the Fermilab Users Office so it will be on file when you arrive.

It is also necessary to get into Fermilab to get your ID badge. Under the new security regulations in Section 2.1.1, you should tell the security guard you are going to Wilson Hall to get an ID, and he or she will allow you to enter. If the security level changes, then you must either be accompanied by someone with a Fermilab ID badge, or you must enter through the main gate (the Farnsworth and Kirk Rd. entrance) and get a visitor's badge. To be issued a visitor's badge, someone with a valid ID must have called security ahead of time to give them your name and purpose at Fermilab.

Once on-site, go to the Users Office in Wilson Hall to finalize the paperwork. They will then direct you to the Key and ID Office on the ground floor of Wilson Hall to have your picture taken and your ID badge printed up within minutes. At this time, all badges expire one year after they have been issued. You must complete all the same paperwork again every year to have your ID renewed. Always complete the ID renewal process before the date your current ID actually expires. If you allow your ID to expire, Fermilab will immediately freeze your Fermilab email and computer accounts.

2.2 Computer and Email Accounts

You are also likely to need a computer account at Fermilab. The Computing Division (<http://computing.fnal.gov/cd/>) has a web page where you can find Form Requests (<http://computing.fnal.gov/cd/forms/>) for all kinds of computer accounts and more.

One of the default mailing accounts is an account for fnal.gov. This machine is a mail server that allows you to set the forwarding address on the mail that is sent to `your_user_name@fnal.gov`.

The Computer Division also offers help and instructions on how to setup your email accounts (<http://computing.fnal.gov/email>):

- The Fermilab Mail Server: fnal.gov (Your permanent email address at Fermilab)
- Mailing Lists and LISTSERV
- Mail Server Protocols: IMAP and POP
- Email on UNIX/LINUX
- Email on Windows
- Additional Email Resources

If you have a question or any kind of computer problem you can email helpdesk@fnal.gov or call X2345.

The Training and Development department (<http://lss.fnal.gov/train-dev/index.html>) offers classes to employees and visiting scientists of Fermilab and Argonne National Laboratory. The types of classes offered include programming classes in Object Oriented approaches including classes in C++ and Java. Classes in Unix and also Windows NT are also offered as are classes in the Microsoft Office Suite. For all classes other than the ordinary PC classes (such as the Microsoft Office Suite or HTML classes) there is an 100% subsidy for graduate students from institutions or universities which are members of the URA (Universities Research Association).

2.3 Arriving with pets

Pets are allowed in houses and most apartments (not in dormitories, nor in the Neuqua apartments) under the following conditions:

1. You must register your pet with the Housing Office and sign a document that states that you will be responsible for keeping your animal under control at all times.
2. If your pet is a dog or cat, you must have in your possession a valid pet license and a recent Rabies Vaccination Certificate.
3. You are responsible for picking up and properly disposing of all animal waste - both inside and outside.

If you are arriving at Fermilab looking for a home to live in with your pet but need to spend some time at the village dorms while you find it, you may need to find a short term housing for your pet. There are several places offering boarding for pets around the lab, but not all of them offer service for all pets. Some of them may require that you supply them with the food for you pet and will have vaccination requirements as well. Here we list a few that are closest to the site.

- Country Pet Retreat: (630) 393-9390. 29w421 Butterfield Rd, Warrenville, IL 2.80 mi. Cats and dogs only.

Chapter 3

Getting Around

3.1 Transportation

There is no public transportation to or from Fermilab, so access to a car is a necessity whether you live on or off site. For short stays, you can rent a car through the Users Office (X3111). Call for up-to-date rates. The rental firm is based at Fermilab so the cars cannot be dropped off at the airport. The Travel Office can also arrange transport to O'Hare International Airport for around $30 (1-way), but reservations must be made in advance.

For on-site transportation, the free Fermilab taxi is available from 8:00 AM to 4:30 PM on weekdays. To call the taxi, dial x4225 (HACK) on site.

On July 2004, the lab purchased 25 bicycles that were distributed among the MINOS, Mini-BooNE, CDF, and D0 experiments to offer them to their collaborators living at the Fermilab Village. If you would like to borrow one of these bikes you should contact your experiment's spokesperson to check for availability. There is a maintenance day for these bikes to take place every spring.

You can also rent a bicycle for local travel, but the cost for a week's rental is just about what you would pay for a used bicycle. You can find a used bicycle by looking in classified ads of the local newspapers, or at some of these places:

- Play It Again Sports

St. Charles. (630) 584-7334. 1501 W. Main St., St. Charles. Sometimes have used bikes for sale.

Naperville. (630) 355-1121. 24 W. Gartner Rd, Naperville. Sometimes have used bikes for sale.

- Performance Bike Shop

Naperville. (630) 983-3010. Rte 59 and Aurora Ave, Naperville. New bikes and bike equipment.

- Bevie's Bikes Batavia. (630) 879-5926. 408 E. Fabyan Pkwy., Batavia. Used Bikes. Sales & Repairs.

3.1.1 Commuter trains around Fermilab

Commuter trains connecting the suburbs around Chicago are available and may in some cases be useful to you when moving around the area. Some students and postdocs who live in the city of Chicago take the METRA/UNION Pacific West Line from the O'Gilvie Transportation Center at Chicago to the Geneva Metra Station, or the METRA/BNSF Railway from Union Station at Chicago to the Route 59 station in Naperville as part of their daily commute. However it is necessary to have a car to go from the train stations to Fermilab. At present the lab does not provide a taxi service to or from train stations.

A typical commute from downtown using one of these two lines should last approximately between 50-60 min on the train plus 15-25 min drive from the station to the lab. If you do not live nearby Union Station in Chicago, you should consider the extra time it will take you to get there from your home.

For more information on transportation by train see section 8.1.2 of this guide.

3.2 Buying A Car

For a used car in good condition, you should expect to pay perhaps $1,500 to $2,000. However, neither individuals nor dealers expect to receive their asking price for a used car, and frequently will ask for much more than a car is worth.

The Argonne Credit Union, located on the west side ground floor of Wilson Hall, has information on the average wholesale price and retail price for various makes and models of cars. You should expect to pay somewhere between the wholesale and retail price.

For federal contractors, Government Vehicles may be available from the General Services Administration, Chicago Fleet Management Center, 4100 West 76th Street, Chicago, Illinois 60652. Cars must be picked up and returned to the Chicago street address. Requests for these vehicles must be made prior to pickup, via the user's home institution.

Any user who needs to use a government vehicle while working at Fermilab must make arrangements with the home institution to obtain a valid U.S. Government Motor Vehicle Operator's Identification Card (Form 346) and the authorization to use governmental vehicles prior to arriving at Fermilab. Vehicles, when available, may be assigned from the department office to drivers holding a valid state license.

3.2.1 Driver's License and Registration

To receive an Illinois driver's license you must provide a minimum of three forms of identification. You must prove name, date of birth, Illinois residence, Social Security Number, and signature for comparison. For preparation, you can pick up a copy of the Illinois "Rules of the Road" booklet at the Users Office (in English, Polish, and Spanish). Technically, if you live in Illinois for over 90 days, you must get an Illinois driver's license (as opposed to a foreign or out-of-state license).

You can obtain a driver's license at the Illinois Secretary of State office, at 339 East Indian Trail Road in Aurora (Phone # (630) 896-1911). Go south on Kirk Road and turn right onto Indian Trail Rd - the offices will be on your left. For more information or other driver service facilities: <http://www.sos.state.il.us>.

The state of Illinois has a mandatory insurance law that requires drivers to have liability insurance on their personal vehicles (which pays for damage that you might cause to other persons or their property). You must arrange for insurance through a private company, which satisfies the legal requirements. You can reach Geico General Insurance Company by call 1-800-841-3000 toll-free, or any number of other insurance companies by looking in the yellow pages.

3.3 Housing

Fermilab's Housing Office (x3777; housing@fnal.gov) is in the lobby of Aspen East at the corner of Sauk Boulevard and Batavia Road in the Fermilab Village (see the map in the appendices of this document). Furnished houses, apartments, and dormitory rooms are available for users to rent. The Village has a number of available facilities. To start with, vending machines and laundry facilities are at 18 Sauk Boulevard near the center of the Village (laundry facilities also exist in the basement of Aspen East). The Users Center (across the street at 2 Che Che Pinqua Street) has a bar, television/video room, game room, and a gourmet restaurant "Chez Leon".

The Housing office also compiles an "Off-Site Short Term Housing Sheet", retains brochures of off-site apartment and townhouse information, and maintains a listing of privately owned properties for rent or lease.

Detailed housing information can be found at: <http://lss.fnal.gov/housing/index.html>

3.3.1 Other details about living on-site:

- The Housing Office is at X3777 for questions, service, and complaints. It should be informed of the names of current tenants.
- Reservations should be made in advance with the Housing Office, payable by Fermilab travel code, cash, check, MasterCard or Visa. (The deadline for reserving summer housing is usually early March; mid-July for fall housing). You may cancel dorm rooms by 1 PM of the reservation date; but houses and apartments must be canceled at least two weeks in advance or a fee of two weeks rent is charged.
- Upon arriving, you may pick up keys at the Housing Office, Monday through Friday, 8 AM to 4:20 PM. At other times, you must pick up your keys at the Communications Center, on the ground floor of the high rise.
- Check-out time is 10:00 AM in houses and apartments, 1:00 PM in dormitory rooms. Please turn in keys to the Housing Office at Aspen East or to the Communications Center. Late check-out means an extra charge of one day's rent.
- A set of household equipment is included with apartment and house rental. The list is given in Appendix C.
- Weekly maid service is available. It is always included with dormitories, and required for houses and apartments rented by a group.

- Pets are allowed in houses and apartments, but not in dormitory rooms. However, you must notify the Housing Office of your pet and sign a form that you are responsible for any damage it may cause. Dogs should have a valid license and a recent rabies vaccination certificate.

You can find information about renting off-site on the GSA web page. There you will find links and hints to find apartments, hotels and roommates.

(<http://www.fnal.gov/orgs/gsa/guide2life/rent.html>)

3.4 Food

There is a cafeteria (Fermilab Southern Foodservice Management) located on the first floor atrium of the Wilson Hall. It is open Monday through Saturday during the following hours:

Breakfast	7:30 to 10:15 (8:00 to 10:15 on Saturdays)
Lunch	11:30 to 14:00 (11:30 to 13:30 on Saturdays)
Snacks	14:00 to 17:00 (weekdays only)
Director's Coffee Break	15:30 Weekdays at WH2SW

In addition to the cafeteria, Chez Leon, located in the Users Center, serves gourmet meals twice a week. Lunch is served on Wednesday 11:30 AM to 1:00 PM and costs $12 per person. Health Insurance

6.1 Health Insurance

You should check with your university or home institution regarding your coverage while living in Illinois. There are frequently restrictions, which apply when receiving medical care outside of the state or local area of your insurance provider.

You must have medical insurance to get a Fermilab ID, and that insurance must be in effect for the entire year your ID badge is valid. You will be asked to fill out a Certification of Medical Insurance form when applying for an ID badge. The insurance must be renewed every year in order for you to renew your Fermilab ID badge.

If you do not have medical insurance or need insurance only for the length of your stay at Fermilab, you can apply for short-term medical coverage at the Users Office, X3111, first floor Wilson Hall. The cost of this insurance, available for both individuals or families, varies from year to year; contact the Users Office for details on plans, providers, and costs.

A list of nearby hospitals is given in Appendix H

7.3 Shopping

There is certainly no dearth of great places to shop in the small suburban towns surrounding Fermilab. The Chicago area is rife with large shopping centers. Somewhere north on I-294 is a mall called Woodfield that has about the same shopping area as the Mall of America (except it has no amusement park inside). Below is a small selection of places to go when you need something in the Fermi area.

- South on Route 59 / Aurora

The largest shopping center near Fermilab is certainly the massive cluster of malls in Aurora along Route 59, known collectively as the Fox Valley Center. Upon heading out from the Lab east (on Batavia Rd.) turn right on Rte 59 and go south 3-4 miles. There you will find rows of stores on either side of the road. Near the intersection of Aurora/New York

Ave are entrances to the Fox Valley Mall ((630) 851-3000, <http://www.westfield.com/foxvalley/>). Be aware that traffic can be extremely congested along Rte 59, especially around rush hours.

- Batavia

For general supply stores, you can go to the general stores at the far end of Batavia. Heading along Wilson road, you proceed through the center of Batavia and beyond until Wilson ends with a “T” at Randall Rd. Directly ahead is a Target store and a Sears Hardware store. A short distance to the right is a Menards store with more hardware-type supplies. Downtown Batavia (around the river) has a few more small stores (including a drug store), but not very many.

- Geneva

Geneva has a large number of quaint little small-town shops and restaurants, mostly along State St. and Third St. You can get there by proceeding north on Kirk Road (the road to the west of the Lab) and turning left on State St. These are usually more pricey than the mass-market stores, but it can be nice to wander around. Most of these places are near to the river along State Street, but there is a cluster of more commercial places further west on State (near Randall Road). The "Geneva Commons" is also a good place to visit for shopping with various stores from sports to designer clothing, restaurants, bookstores, etc. This shopping center is located on Randall Rd. and Williamsburg Ave. (<http://www.shopgenevacommons.com>).

- St. Charles

St. Charles has a lot of small stores like Geneva, as well as larger shopping centers along its main drag. St. Charles is also known for its many antique stores, which are mostly clustered along Main St. just west of the Fox River. You can get there by driving north on Kirk Road and turning left on Main St (Rte 64).

7.4 Food Stores

These are the grocery stores closest to Fermilab. You can find supermarkets in many neighborhoods. Check the ones close to where you live in Appendix F.

- White Hen Pantry - It is a small store but it is open 24 hours. Moderate to expensive.
- Dominick's - They have good merchandise. Moderate to expensive.
- Whole Foods - This store has imported stuff that you won't find in other places. Everything is of a very good quality. Expensive.
- Cub Foods - Right at the entrance you will find a lot of products on sale. They usually have good prices and many brands to choose from. Moderate.
- Jewel - Like Cub Foods. Moderate.

- Aldi - This store doesn't have many brands and not many products. But it is incredibly cheap.
- Family Foods - It's not very big but it's the closest one to Fermilab. And it also has a drugstore and a Deli. Moderate to expensive.

7.5 Thrift Stores

If you're moving to the area and need furniture or household items, a thrift store is a good place to find used stuff for very little money. These are some of the ones we've discovered; you can find more complete listings online, at websites such as <http://www.abstractpublishing.com/resale/swsburbs.html>.

- St Peter Thrift Shop (630) 232-6621. 327 Hamilton St., Geneva
- Living Branches Thrift Shop (630) 584-5833 216 S 2nd Ave, St Charles, IL
- Play It Again Sports 2 locations; both sometimes have used bikes for sale.
 - (630) 584-7334. 1501 W. Main St. Valley Shopping Center, St. Charles
 - (630) 355-1121. 24 W. Gartner Rd, Naperville
- Village Discount Village Mart at Farnsworth and Sheffer Rd. Aurora, IL (behind Speedway). Open 7 days a week; very good and cheap.
- Community Thrift Store (630) 896-9786. 315 E Indian Trl Aurora, IL 60505. Between Mitchell Rd and Aurora Avenue Ln; only open weekends.

First-run cinemas offer new Hollywood releases, and prices are around $9 for evening shows (usually cheaper for students, must show student ID), $7 for matinee (afternoon) shows. Chapter 8

Chicago

8.1 Getting There

Getting to downtown Chicago from Fermilab should nominally take you about 45 minutes to an hour by car, but that estimate can be complicated by the sometimes severe traffic in the Chicago area (do not go downtown during rush hours if you can help it). Once you get downtown, it may still take you a while to reach your final destination, so plan accordingly. The following sections give you some tips about getting downtown.

The City of Chicago is quite spread out, which combined with urban traffic can make getting around troublesome for the unfamiliar. You can listen to the radio for traffic reports - but note that they will refer to all the highways by their names rather than their numbers. A map of Illinois would have a name/number translation. Downtown Chicago, in the area referred to as the Loop (because the Elevated trains run in a loop around it), can also be very congested, and the many small one-way streets can be confusing to a visitor.

In Chicago, as in any large city, you should exercise appropriate caution, especially in unfamiliar areas and especially after dark. Many guidebooks recommend driving with car doors and windows locked; driving to a lighted gas station to ask directions or to look at a map; not walking in unfamiliar areas; and not riding subways at night except with a group.

8.1.1 By Car

The main way into Chicago is along the Eisenhower Expressway (Rte 290), but if traffic is bad you can take I-355 or I-294 South to avoid things and take the Stevenson North (Rte 55), which lets you off a bit south of the Loop. The Stevenson is rarely as congested as the Eisenhower.

Once in the vicinity of downtown, you can go North-South either by the Kennedy Expressway (90/94), or by Lake Shore Drive - depending on your destination, of course.

Once you arrive at your destination, parking becomes the main concern. Many residential sections in the city enforce permit parking, which may allow you to park there without a permit during certain hours. There will be signs posted along these streets to tell you when you may park there without a permit. There is also metered parking along most non-residential streets, but a spot, particularly one near your destination, is often difficult to find. Some restaurants, clubs, and hotels will either have valet parking or a small parking lot, which may or may not be free to customers. Call ahead to check if a place has parking available. There are also many commercial parking structures in the downtown area, but these can be very expensive depending on what time of day you arrive and how long you stay. For destinations near the Loop, you may want to use the parking structures underneath Grant Park. These have many spaces and are relatively cheap ($14 for any stay under 12 hrs).

8.1.2 By Train

There are three nearby Metra train stations which will drop you off in Chicago, just West of the Loop:

- West Chicago Station: Go North on Rte 59, turning left on Main St. in West Chicago (about 3 miles down, with a McDonald's on the right). The entrance to the station is a left just about 60 meters down - just after the liquor store. This is the Union Pacific West Metra line.
- Geneva Station: For those living on the West side of Fermilab. This is located on 3rd St in Geneva, on the Southern edge of town. This is also the Union Pacific West line (last stop).
- Route 59 Station: Go South on Rte 59 past Rte 88. After you pass North Aurora Rd. the road dips under the tracks, and there will be a road on the right before the next stop light which has a sign for the station. Turn right on this road and then right again at the station entrance farther down the road. This is the Burlington Northern Santa Fe (BNSF) line.

The ride into Chicago normally takes about an hour and half. Express trains, which make only a few stops along the way to Chicago, will arrive in less than an hour. The Union Pacific West line ends at the Madison St. and Canal St. station in Chicago, just a few blocks north of Union Station. The BNSF goes directly to Union Station. Schedules are available on the web at <http://www.metrarail.com/> or you can get full schedule information by calling (312) 322-6777. Train schedules are different for Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays than they are for weekdays, so be sure to check the schedule and arrive at least a few minutes early for the train.

Metra stations have parking lots where you can leave your car when you get on the train. Parking is free on weekends (from about 6pm Fri night until about 5am Mon morning). On weekdays, there are some numbered spots in the parking lot (other spots are paid for by daily commuters) which anyone is allowed to use.

The cost of a ride all the way into Chicago is about $5.15 one-way (from the Geneva station). Metra allows children under 12 to ride free when accompanied by an adult, and fares for children between 12 - 17 are half price on weekends and holidays. Metra also has an ongoing weekend special - buy a $5 weekend pass, and it's good for unlimited rides on almost all Metra lines for both Sat and Sun. If Mon or Fri is a national holiday, the weekend pass is good for that day in addition to Sat and Sun. If you ride the train frequently on weekdays, you should look into purchasing a 10 or 20 ride ticket, which gives you a discounted price for each ride.

From the downtown train stations, you can walk east over the river into the Loop. There are plenty of buses and CTA trains going North and South from there. The nearest CTA station is two blocks directly south of Union Station (Blue line, Clinton St. stop).

8.2 Finding Your Way Around

Obviously, getting a map is probably a good idea. You can find lots of maps and Chicago guides in the local bookstores and gas stations. A Chicago 'Easy Finder' laminated street map can be found for $4.95 at most gas stations. The Speedway on the corner of Batavia Rd. and Rte. 59 has a good map selection.

8.2.1 Addresses

Chicago addresses are laid out in a grid system: streets generally have a name and a number such as Division Street (1200 North). Division Street goes East-West, and any address such as 1200 N. Clark Street or 1200 N. LaSalle Street is at the intersection with Division Street.

Every 400 numbers is roughly a half-mile. The zero mark is the intersection of State and Madison Streets, located in the Loop near to the Lake.

8.2.2 Neighborhoods

A quick guide to the neighborhoods, starting downtown and proceeding progressively north. . .

8.2.2.1 Downtown and North Side Neighborhoods

- The Loop: This is Chicago's "Downtown", a core of primarily commercial, government, and cultural buildings - bounded on the North and West by the Chicago River, on the East by the Lake, and on the South by Roosevelt Avenue.

Features include the Sears Tower, Chicago Public Library and the Art Institute of Chicago. Out by the lake is Grant Park and Buckingham Fountain - just South of there is the Field Museum of Natural History, Shedd Aquarium, Soldier Field, and Adler Planetarium. The Eisenhower Expressway (Rte 290) dumps onto Congress Parkway near the Southern edge of the Loop.

The main campus is many blocks West, just past Woodlawn Ave(1200E) from 55th to 59th.

8.2.3 What to do in Chicago

Obviously, there is no such thing as a definitive list of things to do in Chicago. There are restaurants, bars, nightclubs, jazz clubs, museums, historical spots, festivals, and so on for everyone and every interest. The places highlighted in the previous sections are only some of the most popular tourist attractions. The best way to find something fun to do in Chicago is to check things out online, talk to other grad students with similar interests, or just pick something new to try! Below are a few websites with information on Chicago events:

- City of Chicago: <http://egov.cityofchicago.org/city/webportal/home.do>
- Chicago Events: <http://www.chicago.il.org/default.html>
- Chicago Events listing by Citysearch: <http://chicago.citysearch.com/section/events>
- Chicago Sun-Times Events Calendar: <http://www.suntimes.com/calendar/>

But above all, whatever you do, make sure to explore Chicago while you're here. You can't spend ALL your time at the lab working!
