Medical Comments: Employee was stripping back cable with an exacto knife to remove the rubber jacket when his hand slipped cutting his left thumb. Laceration was cleaned and dressed with steri strips. ESH Comments: The employee, an engineer, was using an Exacto knife to slice open the outer jacket of an SO cord that he was preparing for installation on a power supply. He was holding the knife in his right hand, cutting away from himself, making a longitudinal cut along the length of the jacket. He was not wearing gloves. The knife slipped from his grasp as he was making the cut and he reflexively reached for it with his left hand to prevent the knife from falling. The thumb of the left hand contacted the knife blade, resulting in a small laceration. He reported to the Medical Office where he received first aid treatment and returned to work with limitations which did not affect his ability to perform his routine job functions (no DART). After the incident, a technician provided the employee with a snipping tool that is recommended for this task in place of a knife. The employee has also ordered a pair of cut-resistant gloves from the stockroom for use when he performs similar tasks in the future.
