Medical Comments: While standing and pulling a magnet toward him, employee felt sharp pain in both knees. (Happened after-hours; employee had been called in to work.)
ESH Comments: Employee was part of a crew changing out a Main Injector magnet in the early morning of Monday 5/18/09. The magnet and associated correction elements and support frame weigh approx. 5 tons. The magnet assembly is lowered onto dollies with jacks and then manually pulled out into the aisle for transport. To grasp the frame to pull out the magnet assembly requires the workers to bend at the waist and knees. The employee developed knee pain at this time, which worsened when he came in for a second magnet change on the following Wednesday evening (5/20/09). When pain persisted on Tuesday 5/26/09, the employee reported to the Medical Office. First aid treatment only. Medical limitations do not prevent the employee from performing all of his routine duties (not DART).

His left hand was on top of the box, a few inches from the end of the scissors. The scissors slipped and the tip of the scissors struck his left wrist.
